

DERMA SCOPE

The Encyclopedia of Aesthetics
& Spa Therapy

April 2001
Volume XXVI No. 4

Body Sugaring

Make-up for All Seasons

SPAs
essentials

Blinc

A light is beginning to shine on one of the cosmetic industry's best-kept secrets, a mascara that performs like no other. The mascara is called Kiss Me mascara and unlike traditional mascaras it is not an oil-based paint. It is applied just like traditional mascara, but unlike the others, Kiss Me's unique formulation forms tiny water-resistant tubes around your lashes. Within two minutes Kiss Me mascara completely sets and adheres to your lashes, as opposed to painting them like conventional mascaras. Once set, Kiss Me mascara will not run, smear or smudge, even if you rub your eyes. Although Kiss Me is applied like traditional mascara, its removal is revolutionarily simple! No eye-make-up removers or irritating cleansers. Simply wash your face or shower. It's that easy. At that level of saturation, the water loosens the tubes from the lashes allowing you to apply gentle pressure and easily slide the tubes off, leaving no tint or residue behind. Upon removal, you will actually see the tiny tubes in your hand. For more information, please call 703-448-9008, visit their website at www.kissmemascara.com, or visit them at the International Congress of Esthetics - Northeast, booth 633. ■

