

#Hair

SPRING 2001
volume 3, issue 1

You Go, Girl!

217 ideas, experts
& examples on how to live your dream

fashion forward>>

print pizzazz

job jazz

spring's best makeup

get kinky
with your hair

reaping the rewards of risk

come on and kiss me

KissMe mascara from Bilinc, Inc., refuses to smudge when you cry your eyes out over a romantic movie, or sweat your buns off at the gym. This unique product, discovered in Japan (in fact, the woman behind Bilinc built her whole company on the strength of this mascara), gives a natural look which forms actual tubes of color around your lashes that will only budge when saturated with warm water. Actress Lucy Liu is a fan of this "cult" fave and we were impressed with KissMe's holding power—especially great for lower lashes. It's only shortcoming: not much added thickness (secret: they're working on that). In black, brown, and navy blue, $24. Available at beauty stores and salons, kissmemascara.com, or 877-4KISSME—J. Elaine Spear

